

FERC Order No. 717
Identification of Employee Information
S. 358.7(f)(1)
Updated and Posted December 12, 2008

Portland Natural Gas Transmission System

President This position reports to the Management Committee. The President is responsible for successfully managing the direction of the Corporation. This position is a Transmission Function Employee.

Director, Marketing and Business Development The individual in this position performs professional work related to marketing the Corporation's daily pipeline's services as well as long term transportation services and business development. Responsible for general coordination of transportation and exchange activities on a daily basis. This position is a Transmission Function Employee.

Manager – Rates and Regulatory Affairs This position is responsible for maintaining the Corporation's FERC gas tariff, ensuring processes for gas scheduling are in compliance with gas industry standards, submitting all required compliance filings to the FERC and DOE and representing the pipeline in relevant FERC proceedings and at industry forums. This position is also responsible to ensure that the daily operations of the pipeline are in compliance with all relevant service and operating agreements, and for the identification and addressing of issues as they arise. Periodically, this position also develops analyses and prepares filings to adjust the tariff rates on the system. This position is a Transmission Function Employee.

Senior Transportation Coordinator (transmission) This position is responsible for the daily nomination process, allocation of capacity, scheduling and customer interface on transportation accounts. This position provides daily supervision and guidance to the transportation scheduling workgroup. This position is a Transmission Function Employee.

Transportation Coordinator (transmission) The individuals in this position are responsible for the daily nomination process, allocation of capacity, scheduling and customer interface on transportation accounts. This position is a Transmission Function Employee.

Business Analyst The individual in this position assists with the day to day work related to the marketing of the pipeline's daily discretionary services, and contributes to the ongoing business development of PNGTS by performing research and analysis of industry trends and other external market influences. The Business Analyst also plays a key role in supporting PNGTS regulatory filings and initiatives. This position is a Transmission Function Employee.